

Tips and Technology

Did you know?

QUESTIONS ON AUTOMOBILE TECHNOLOGY

Do you still remember the test questions from your training? How much of this knowledge is still in your memory? Which new topics have been added since then? Test your knowledge with the following questions! Good luck!

You can find the answers at the end of the page.

QUESTION 1:

At which point does one talk of a high-voltage system in a motor vehicle (2 answers)?

- A) With direct current (DC) from 20 V
- B) With alternating current (AC) from 25 V
- C) With direct current (DC) from 60 V
- D) With alternating current (AC) from 400 V

QUESTION 2:

How does DOT 5 brake fluid differ from DOT 4 (2 answers)?

- A) No difference, only in price
- B) Boiling temperature is higher
- C) DOT 5 is less viscous than DOT 4
- D) Wet boiling point is higher

QUESTION 3:

What do the last three characters mean in the following tyre designation: 215/70 R15 98W (2 answers)?

- A) Tyre load up to 750 kg
- B) Encrypted manufacturer's information
- C) 98 % winter tyre
- D) Speed index up to 270 km/h

QUESTION 4:

What is understood by quiescent current in a vehicle (1 answer)?

- A) Quiescent current no longer applies to motor vehicles from year of manufacture 2013
- B) Quiescent current is only used if the vehicle has to stop due to traffic
- C) Quiescent current is used if the vehicle is locked and the engine is not running
- D) Quiescent current is so small that it can be disregarded

QUESTION 5:

Which terminal designation does a N/O relay in accordance with DIN 72552 have (1 answer)?

- A) 99, 98a, 85, 86
- B) 85, 86, 88, 88a
- C) 30, 31, 49, 49a
- D) Designations are set independently by each manufacturer